Benson Rejects Gov't Buying of Hogs and Cattle to Support Prices As Too Costly

AUSTIN, Minn. (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson said today a government price support program to raise the farm value of hogs and cattle a nickel a pound would cost about 2.4 billion dollars annually.

A government price support program for live hogs and cattle "won't work," Benson said. "Such action would hurt more than it would ever help."

Benson threw cold water on pleas for a government buying program of livestock to bolster sagging farm prices in a major speech prepared for delivery before the Minnesota-Iowa Swine Producers Assn.

The speech followed a blunt warning issued at Chicago Tuesday to pork processors to keep their marketing margins and profits in line and to pay farmers as much as possible for their livestock.

If such programs were started, he said, "you can imagine the delegations of broiler growers, turkey growers, and others who would descend on us."

He said government buying of live animals would lead to uniform pricing without regard to quality, barriers against the popular meat-type hog, stimulate more production, and eventually cause federal rationing of the right to raise hogs.

Mounds Man Heads Farm Advisers, Makanda Woman Home Bureau

URBANA, Ill. (AP)—Mrs. E. D. McGuire and L. E. Broom will head two key Illinois farm organizations for the next year.

Mrs. McGuire of Makanda, Jackson county, was elected president of the Illinois Home Bureau Federation Tuesday at the annual Farm and Home Week sponsored by the University of Illinois.

Broom, a Pulaski-Alexander county farm adviser from Mounds, was named president of the Illinois Association of Farm Advisers.

In a charter meeting of the Illinois Agricultural Alumni Assn., Joseph Ashbrook was elected the association's first president. He is a corn cob processor at Rossville.

At a regular session of the Farm and Home Week program a leading farm economist said the administration's proposed soil bank plan is a "scheme" to distribute government money to farmers.

Norwegian Navy Captures 14th Soviet Vessel

AALESUND, Norway (AP)—The Norwegian navy captured its 14th Russian fishing boat inside Norway's sea boundaries and apparently forced the remainder of the Soviet fleet to retreat to the safety of the high seas.

The lighthouse master at Svinoy 10 miles off the mainland, reported the Soviet fishing fleet had pulled back from Norwegian waters and was hovering on the horizon. He said the Russians gave no indication of making another invasion of Norway's four-mile territorial waters.

The Soviet government today demanded release of the 14 Russian fishing boats.

Radio Moscow, heard in London, called the incident "a misunderstanding."

It interrupted its regular program to broadcast a statement of the Soviet Fishing Industry Ministry. It said the ministry "expects a speedy consideration by the Norwegian authorities of this question and the release of the detained vessels."

The three-day invasion had "cost" the Russians 13 fishing boats and 1 factory ship. Torpedo and patrol boats were forced to open fire at least twice to prevent the Soviet poachers from escaping.

The 14th Russian fishing boat was brought into this west Norway port by a prize crew of Norwegian sailors. The seizure brought to 850 the number of Soviet "prisoners of war." The "captives" included some 50 women.

The tactics of the Soviet fishing fleet led Norwegians to believe the invasion was a deliberate violation of Norway's sea frontier.

Some fishermen were speculated that the withdrawal may be only temporary. They said the holds of the fishing boats may be filled to capacity with herring and they were unable to take more until the "mother ship" Tambov is released by Norwegian authorities.

The Tambov, whose captain have to only after a warning shot was fired across the ship's bow, was captured Monday. It now is anchored, under guard, in Aalesund fjord.

Arkansas Comedian Bob Burns is Critically Ill

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bob Burns, the Arkansas comedian whose bazooka and hill tales made him a millionaire, was in critical condition with a chronic kidney disorder today at West Valley Community Hospital.

Burns, 64, was reported to be in a coma except for brief periods of consciousness. He has been hospitalized since Saturday.

Burns has been inactive in show business for several years. He invested his radio and motion picture earnings in San Fernando Valley real estate which reportedly has made him one of Hollywood's wealthiest men.

Burns climbed to stardom in the 1930s when his tall tales about Uncle Fud and Grandpa Snazzy of Van Buren, Ark., and his bazooka playing were among that period's top comedy acts on radio and in the movies.

Democrats in Illinois Pledge Party Harmony

GOP Policies Blasted at Two Campaign Meetings

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Illinois Democrats Tuesday blasted Republican policies in the fields of business and farming and pledged harmony in their shattered ranks.

The party held two campaign meetings to open downstate primary activity. The state organization ticket, headed by Cook County Treasurer Herbert C. Paschen for governor and State Rep. Richard Stengel, Rock Island, for U. S. senator, spoke before the State Central Committee at a lunch, and then before a Sangamon County rally Tuesday night.

Stengel said the Eisenhower administration had showered benefits on big business, encouraged monopolies and forgotten the small businessman and the farmer.

Says GOP Failed
He said since 1952, small business income was down 66 per cent but profits of the "biggest corporations" were up 44 per cent. He said the Republicans had failed in a platform pledge to halt monopolies and there had been many times more business and bank mergers under the GOP administration than under the Democrats.

Paschen pledged the Democrats, if elected to state offices, will pass a new constitutional revenue article taking the sales tax off food, will create a school building program, devise better mental hospitals and improve care, and take the emphasis off toll roads and put it back on the primary road program.

He Urges Harmony
He joined downstate Democratic Leader Paul Powell of Vienna in urging harmony following the choosing of organization-backed ticket by Cook County slatemakers.

Powell, a state representative and former House speaker, said "there is a rumor going downstate that the Democrats are not going to try to win" because of slatemaking wounds.

Powell said he, like other downstaters, wanted former secretary of state and present Cook County Clerk Edward J. Barrett as the candidate for governor.

Powell said he went to Chicago to appear before the slatemakers for "Eddie Barrett for governor." But he said he returned after the ticket was drawn up. "For Herb Paschen for Governor."

Services of Schlumberger Well Surveying Company Explained at Kiwanis Meeting

The services the Schlumberger Well Surveying company performs for oil well operators and drillers was explained to members of the Kiwanis club last night at the Masonic temple by W. P. Baker, office manager of the Schlumberger firm here.

The primary service Schlumberger performs is electric logging of wells which can furnish information on formations in the entire basin. By electric logging of wells correlated information may be available on several wells in an area.

Another service by electric logging of wells is that depths of various formations may be used by geologists in planning future drilling, and another is that the logs are used considerably for qualitative and quantitative analysis to estimate the possibilities of various sands.

Mr. Baker showed several charts of the electric logging of wells in this area to explain his talk.

While Schlumberger is a prime operator of electric logs it also performs other services to oil and gas operators. Mr. Baker said. One is a micro log, and another is a temperature survey to determine depth of cement which is used in sealing a well and various others. He also explained the costs which are based on the depth of the logs.

The Schlumberger office has been located here for several months and Mr. Baker stated there would be many new things in various equipments seen in Saline

Oregon Gov. Paul Patterson Dies Suddenly

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Republican Gov. Paul L. Patterson of Oregon died of a heart attack Tuesday night during a discussion of his campaign for the U. S. senatorial nomination with close friends and political advisers.

He was 55 years old.

The governor only last Saturday announced his intention to seek the GOP senatorial nomination to oppose his bitter political enemy, Democratic Sen. Wayne Morse, in the November election.

Patterson had retired to an upstairs room in the exclusive Arlington Club about 9:50 p. m. with a group of friends and Republican state political leaders to discuss his pending senatorial campaign.

Ted Gamble, Portland radio and television executive and manager of Patterson's campaign for governor in 1954, said the governor had just begun to talk when he suddenly clutched his chest and slumped to the floor. A physician, Dr. Ernest Boylan, was summoned and pronounced the governor dead. His body was taken to a Portland funeral home.

Morse, against whom Patterson was expected to wage one of the hottest battles of the political year, expressed deep sorrow at the governor's death.

"I'm awfully sorry. I'm terribly sorry and deeply sad for the tragic news of Gov. Patterson's death," said Morse when informed the man he bitterly attacked from time to time over their different views on such matters as power and natural resources had died. "Mrs. Morse and I extend to Mrs. Patterson and other members of the family our deepest sympathy and prayers for strength in this hour of great sorrow."

'Ol' Black Magic' Singer Shoots Heckler in Club

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Daniels, "That Ol' Black Magic" Negro night club singer who faces charges of shooting a heckler in a Harlem bottle club, said today "I really need that ol' black magic now."

Daniels, 40, appeared this morning in Felony Court on charges of felonious assault and carrying a concealed weapon. Magistrate Thomas Cullen Jr. ordered Daniels continued in $2,500 bail for a hearing Feb. 28. The date was requested by Daniels' attorneys who said the singer planned to go to California shortly for two engagements.

Daniels is charged with shooting James Jackson, 33, a Negro fight trainer, in the shoulder Tuesday morning. The wound was reported not serious. Asst. Dist. Atty. Carl Vergari told Cullen both men were drinking and began to fight when Jackson asked for Daniels' pistol and was refused. Vergari said three shots were fired.

The singer, whose "black magic" took him to the swank midtown supper clubs, was freed on $2,500 bail.

"I never had a gun," said the thrice-married Daniels who evaded questions at police headquarters with the explanation his memory "went blank" and he was feeling "woozy."

"I guess the moral to this is don't go drinking in strange places. I really need that ol' black magic now."

Police said Daniels shot Jackson after a group of the bottle club allegedly threatened Daniels during the argument and the singer whipped out the pistol and fired, police said.

Beria Successor Released from Duties in Russia

LONDON (AP)—Radio Moscow said today Gen. Sergei N. Kruglov, who replaced liquidated Lavrenti Beria as chief of the Soviet secret police, has been "released from his duties" as interior minister.

The broadcast said Kruglov was dismissed by the Presidium politburo and replaced by N. P. Dudorov, an obscure functionary previously known only as a department head in the offices of Russia's Communist Central Committee.

Kruglov was one of the few Russians of less than politburo rank who had achieved notice in the West. He was decorated by both the United States and Britain—knights—for his work as Soviet security chief at the Tehran, Yalta and Potsdam conferences.

The curt radio announcement gave no reason for Kruglov's dismissal and no clue to his fate.

Four Air Force Men Rescued, Two are Missing

Launch Inquiry To Learn Why Plane Ran Out of Fuel

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The police river patrol searched the swift-moving Monongahela River here today for a twin-engine B25 Air Force bomber which ran out of fuel, crashed and sank with the loss of two lives.

The plane hit the water Tuesday afternoon about five miles southeast of Pittsburgh's Golden Triangle, where the Monongahela and Allegheny rivers join to form the Ohio River. Four Air Force men aboard were rescued, but two were missing and presumed dead.

The crash site was about eight miles downstream from where a transport ditched Dec. 22, 1954, with a loss of 10 lives. Nine of the dead were holiday-bound servicemen. That plane also ran out of fuel.

Inadequate Fuel Supply
The Air Force launched an immediate investigation to learn why the bomber, en route from Las Vegas, Nev., to Washington, D. C., apparently left Selfridge Air Force Base, Mich., its last stop before crashing, with an inadequate fuel supply.

The Air Force identified the missing as Capt. Jean P. Inghram, 29, son of Mrs. Pearl M. Inghram, South Charleston, W. Va., and S. Sgt. Walter E. Soocy, 32, whose wife, Patricia, and three young daughters live near Nellis AFB, Nev., and whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Palmer, of Alaska.

The survivors were listed as the pilot, Maj. William L. Dodson, commander of the Nellis AFB Weather Office; Co-pilot Capt. John Jamieson, of Mechanicsburg, Pa.; M-Sgt. Alfred J. Allemen, 38, M-Sgt. Charles C. Charles, 38, M-Sgt. Charles L. Smith, 18, of Philadelphia. Jamieson was detained at Montefiore hospital for treatment of exposure and shock. Allemen was brought to St. Joseph's hospital and Smith to Magee hospital, both suffering from exposure and shock.

Survivors on Wing
The survivors had time to scramble onto a wing of the plane after it hit the swollen river and started moving swiftly downstream. But the wings buckled a few minutes later and the fuselage began nosing down into the water.

Three of the men leaped into the river and the two others clung desperately to the tail section to await the arrival of river patrol boats and the tugboat "Titan," which put out from the nearby Jones & Laughlin steel plant dock immediately after the crash.

The Monongahela was swollen by a recent thaw and running faster than normal when the plane crashed.

Bible Society's Budget For 1956 Largest Yet

NEW YORK — A budget for 1956 of $3,858,000 has been approved by the American Bible Society's advisory council and its board of managers. The council is composed of 55 denominations and 17 women's church organizations. The new budget represents the largest peace-time financial program ever adopted by the society, whose sole functions are the translation, publication and distribution of the Bible without note or comment and encouragement of reading of the Scriptures. The council cited emergency needs and an expanded program as reasons for the increase in budget. Church denominations subscribed $900,000 this year and agreed to try to reach $1,400,000 by 1958, to meet the heavier demands for Scriptures.

AROUND SPRINGFIELD

By DON E. CHAMBERLAIN

Dozen Contests Revealed in Southeastern Illinois Filings

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — (Special) — Filings for Republican and Democrat nominations for district offices in southeastern Illinois — the withdrawal deadline was last Saturday — reveal approximately one dozen contests. The list of filings, released by Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter, East Moline, disclosed no contests in eleven instances.

The April 10th primary, the list showed, has no contest for primary nominations for clerk of the appellate court in the fourth district. This means that Republican Earl Pollock, East St. Louis, will fight it out with James R. McLaughlin, Mt. Vernon, in the Fall election. Current Clerk David Mallett, East St. Louis, is a Democrat candidate for Secretary of State.

In the 23rd congressional district incumbent Charles W. Vursell, Salem, and Albert W. Imle, Hillsboro, are unopposed for Republican and Democrat nominations for Congress, respectively, and in the 25th district incumbent Democrat Kenneth W. Gray, West Frankfort, is unopposed for re-nomination. There are four candidates for the GOP nomination.

Roy O. Gulley, Benton, tops the list of the four Republicans competing for nomination for Congress in the 25th district. He is first on the ballot and is followed in order by State Rep. W. O. Verhines, Vienna; Samuel J. Scott, Metropolis; and Roy G. Hawkins, Marion. The 25th is made up of Alexander, Franklin, Gallatin, Hardin, Jackson, Johnson, Massac, Perry, Pope, Pulaski, Randolph, Saline, Union and Williamson counties.

Former Gov. John H. Stelle, McLeansboro, and Hugh V. Murray Jr., Centralia, are unopposed for delegate to the Democrat national convention at Chicago, from the 23rd congressional district, and Harold G. Watson, Mt. Vernon, administrative assistant to the late Gov. L. L. Emmerson, Mt. Vernon, and Omer W. Poos, Hillsboro, are unopposed for Republican delegate.

In the 25th congressional district there is a contest among Democrats for delegate to the national conventions. Unopposed Republican candidates are Oldham Paisley, publisher of the Marion Daily Republican, and Peyton H. Kune, Murphysboro. Democrat candidates are LeRoy Barham, Harrisburg; J. Palmer Rea, Benton; and Gordon Franklin, Marion. Judson E. Harris, Du Quoin, withdrew for Republican delegate.

Candidates for Republican and Democrat alternate delegates are unopposed in the 25th district. Republicans are Russell Kibler, Rosiclare, and Harris who withdrew from the delegate race. The Democrats are Don Scott, Harrisburg, and Lewis H. Dawley, Carbondale.

National conventions to which district delegates and alternates are elected, two to each of the state's 25 congressional districts, as well as those delegates and alternates at-large selected by state conventions, nominate Republican and Democrat candidates for president and vice president as well as write the party platforms on which candidates will run throughout the nation.

In the race for state senator in the new 46th Senate district, incumbent Paul W. Broyles, Mt. Vernon, has opposition from Leonard F. Samford, Fairfield, for Republican renomination. Warren D. Crippin, Cisne, is unopposed for the Democrat nomination. The 46th district is composed of Edwards, Jefferson, Wabash and Wayne counties.

The Republican race for state senator from the 55th Senate district was reduced to two with the withdrawal last week of James N. Wilhite, West Frankfort. It left Luther Burpo, West Frankfort, and Carl H. Jordan, McLeansboro, in the contest. Four are contesting for the Democrat nomination. They are State Rep. Paul Ziegler, Carini; H. L. Upchurch and John P. Barton, both of Benton; and Paul Lowe, Christopher.

Contests feature races for party nominations for state representative in the 57th and 59th House districts. There is no contest in the 56th.

In the 56th Incumbents S. O. Dale, Fairfield, and Garrel Burgoon, Lawrenceville, are unopposed for two Republican nominations, and Ray Koehler, Grayville, and Norman L. Benefield, Newton, are without opposition for Democrat nominations. It being a two and two district they will go into the November election with the highest three winning.

Three incumbents are pitted against each in the contest for two Democrat nominations in the 57th district. They are Clyde Lee, Mt. Vernon; Dean R. Hammack, Pinckneyville; and Bert Baker, Benton. The two high men will fight it out for the district's three house seats in November with Republican incumbent Robert Beckmeyer, Nashville, and Wayne Fitzgerald, Sesser, unopposed in the primary.

In the 59th seven Republicans are candidates for two GOP nominations with two Democrats competing for one nomination. Primary victory in the 59th means unopposed election in November. State Rep. Paul Powell, Vienna, a Democrat wheelhorse in the Illinois House, is opposed for renomination by K. Neil Thurmond, Johnson City. In the Republican primary the candidates are incumbent Gordon Kerr, Brookport; C. L. McCormick, Vienna; Laura C.

Colp, Carterville; Thomas J. Throgmorton Jr., Marion; John H. L. Parish, Harrisburg; Dale H. Sullivan, Harrisburg; and G. C. Tregoning, Carterville.

Boy Drowns on Way to School

KANKAKEE, Ill. — Robert Bisailon, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bisailon of Kankakee, drowned Tuesday on his way to school with a friend.

Authorities said Robert and Gary King, 8, loitered to play on the ice of Soldiers Creek. Robert slipped and clutched Gary's gloved hand. The glove slipped off, and Robert slid into the unfrozen channel water of the creek.

Gary raced to the school nearby for help. Firemen were summoned, and found Robert's body about 50 feet from the spot where the accident occurred.

County Savings Bond Quota for 1956 Set at $1,720,000

Saline county has been assigned an annual quota for sales of E and H United States Savings Bonds for 1956 of $1,720,000, according to Walter Bargman of Harrisburg, General County chairman of the Savings Bond committee.

In an effort to continue the widespread distribution of the national debt, the national quota for sales of these series has been increased to $5 billion 650 million for 1956.

Illinois has been assigned an annual sales goal of $509,800,000, according to T. Merle Paul, State Sales Director of the Savings Bonds Division. "With the cooperation of the large group of Savings Bonds volunteers, bankers, industrialists, labor leaders, newspapers, radio and TV stations, women's organizations, schools, agricultural groups, and many others who made possible the attainment of the sales quota of last year," said Mr. Paul, "we can look forward to an even greater sales record in the coming 12 months."

Watch for These Signs of 'Illness'

MILWAUKEE — Because more and more persons who consult doctors have imaginary ailments, a Cleveland physician has devised a list of ways for doctors to distinguish the truly ill from the neurotic patients.

Dr. Leonard L. Lovshin of the Cleveland Clinic revealed his methods in a recent speech to members of the Interstate Post-graduate Medical Association of North America at their meeting here.

Dr. Lovshin cited these examples as illustrations of neurotic symptoms rather than organic ailments:

Female patients who dye their hair platinum blonde or some other color, wear dark glasses and offer the doctor written symptoms.

Persons whose fingernails are bitten, especially when otherwise groomed; those who pluck their eyebrows and pencil in substitutes, and relatives who accompany patients to the office and answer more questions than the patients.

Dr. Lovshin said such actions are hints of possible mental conflicts in the patients and should be looked into if a thorough examination fails to show any organic difficulties.

S. Carolina Asks Extradition of Two Illinois Men

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — A South Carolina request to extradite two Chicago insurance executives for trial in an alleged conspiracy to force sale of an insurance firm today was under advisement by the state of Illinois.

A hearing on the request, which reached into the top levels of South Carolina politics, was completed Tuesday by Hearing Commissioner Paul Hansen. He could not say when Gov. William G. Stratton would decide the matter.

South Carolina is asking the extradition of O. T. Hogan, chairman of the board of United Insurance Company of America, and Paul Temple, insurance broker, both of Chicago.

They are charged, with three others including former South Carolina Insurance Commissioner D. D. Murphy, with conspiring to force sale of Capital Life Insurance Company of South Carolina to United at a price at least one million dollars below its value.

Murphy is charged with malfeasance in office and taking part of a $300,000 bribe to declare the Capital firm financially unsound and threatening to put it into receivership to force the sale at a low price.

Hogan's firm bought Capital for three million dollars.

Both Hogan and Temple denied knowledge that Murphy got any part of the commission paid to Temple for arranging the sale and both denied entering into any conspiracy with Murphy.

Their defense charged former Gov. James Byrnes of South Carolina forced the sale for which the alleged conspirators were charged. The defense said Byrnes was running for Lester L. Bates, president of the Capital firm and a candidate for governor against George B. Timmerman Jr., backed by Byrnes.

It said Byrnes ordered a state examination of the Bates' insurance company which would have forced it into receivership.

Billy Graham to Have Audience with Indian President, Prime Minister Nehru

By GEORGE BURNHAM
Chattanooga News-Free Press Staff Writer

PALAMCOTTAH, India — Billy Graham, who will preach to over half a million people during his three-week tour of India, will have an audience with Prime Minister Nehru and President Rajendra Prasad next Saturday in Delhi.

The famed evangelist already has spoken to over 400,000 and recorded 7,000 decisions for Jesus Christ in a land where Christians are in a minority.

The tour will be concluded Feb. 8 with a rally in Calcutta.

During his talk with top men of India Billy is expected to say again, as he did in talks with Churchill, President Eisenhower, Queen Elizabeth and Queen Wilhelmina, that the problems of the world are caused by human nature and not the atomic bomb. He will name sin as the cause of the world's problems and Jesus Christ as the answer. He does not pull punches when it comes to a man's position in life.

The largest crowd to hear Billy in India gathered in Kottayam. Over 100,000 sat on the spit level hills surrounding the platform. It was reported to be the largest religious gathering in the history of the nation. On two other nights there were crowds of 75,000 and 85,000.

Kottayam is a city of only 50,000 population and most of the people walked in from the surrounding countryside. People who walked five to 10 miles said they thanked God for a full moon. The light helped them to see deadly cobras

Mollet Wins Approval as French Premier

PARIS (UP) — Socialist Leader Guy Mollet won overwhelming National Assembly approval today as France's 22nd postwar premier and there were reports he would visit Moscow next month in hopes of bettering East-West relations.

Mollet already had planned to visit the Soviet capital as secretary general of the Socialist Party. Informed sources said the Russians were expected to deliver an official notification the invitation is still good.

He would be the first French premier to go to Moscow since Pierre Laval visited the city in 1935.

Mollet's big majority, voted on his platform of Algerian reforms and continued ties with the United States and Britain, promised him solid "third force" backing against the Communists and the right-wing Poujadists.

along the jungle trails. Americans wouldn't walk 10 miles to church along a paved road in broad daylight.

Visitors filled all hotels and vacant rooms. Many slept in the open. The town ran dangerously low on food and more rice had to be rushed in to feed the hungry people. Five thousand people would gather each morning in a field for prayer meetings.

Billy and his party drove Monday from Kottayam to Palamcottah, over 140 miles through fertile land dotted with palm and rubber trees. Wild monkeys scurried around the car en route. They encountered two flag-waving parades of Communist youths. Billy stopped the car and preached to them from the Bible as they gathered around him, waving hammer and sickle. One youth kept his arm raised in a token of strength, but dropped his eyes when Billy talked about Jesus Christ.

People gathered in many villages along the way to wave as Billy came by. He is now about as well known in India as his native North Carolina.

Fifty thousand are expected here for the Tuesday and Wednesday night meetings.

Coast Guardsmen Rescue 15 Fishermen From Sheet of Ice

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP) — Coast Guardsmen, using skiffs while a small ice breaker stood by, today rescued 15 ice fishermen from a large sheet of ice which broke loose from the ice field in Lake Erie off Sturgeon Point, 30 miles west of here.

The Coast Guard station here reported it had received word that "all were safely removed."

It was first reported that as many as 60 fishermen were caught on the section of ice when it broke off due to shift in wind currents.

The ice breaker Ojibwa and 30 Coast Guardsmen raced to the scene to bring the stranded men to the main body of ice.

Eisenhower and Eden Meet for Final Talks

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Anthony Eden wind up their talks today with a top-secret discussion of nuclear energy, including chances of controlling East-West H-bomb tests.

By nightfall, the two top western leaders planned a communique telling the world of their:

1. Determination to undertake new peace efforts in the Middle East in the face of Russia's efforts to stir up trouble by giving arms to Arabs. If war should come between Jews and Arabs, the two powers would join with other nations to take strong action to halt aggression by either side.
2. Willingness to negotiate "just and fair" agreements with Russia on disarmament, German reunification, lowering East-West barriers and settling other key cold war problems. But Allied willingness will be based again on Russian "deeds not words."

Final White House Session

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd scheduled a morning meeting to go over final agreements and disagreements before Mr. Eisenhower and Eden meet in the afternoon.

The communique to follow the final White House meeting will skirt the differences remaining on trade with Red China—which Britain wants to increase—Red China's membership in the United Nations, and Britain's smoldering feud with Saudi Arabia.

Dr. White Urges More Gov't Aid In Heart Research

CHICAGO — President Eisenhower's heart specialist said Tuesday night at the start of the national American Heart Assn. fund drive that the government should do more toward heart research.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, who read a message from the President at the kickoff dinner for the 18½-million-dollar drive, said he did not believe Mr. Eisenhower's proposal for government support of heart research "goes far enough."

He added that he didn't know if he would mention his views to the President and try to get him to increase such support when he examines Mr. Eisenhower within two weeks. The examination between Feb. 10 and 15 is expected to have considerable bearing on Mr. Eisenhower's decision with regard to running for re-election.

The message read by White from the President said that heart diseases "constitute a foremost national health problem." The President said, however, he is especially gratified that hope, "rather than fear," marks the effort to conquer heart disease.

"Optimism is fully justified by the recent achievements of heart research which foreshadow even more dramatic advances in the days ahead," Mr. Eisenhower said.

White refused to answer directly any questions about the President's condition or whether he will be able to seek re-election. But in his speech, White said much of the important work of the world has been done by persons with heart and other ailments.

Auto Dealers Air Grievances With Congressmen

WASHINGTON — Hundreds of automobile dealers invaded Capitol Hill today to discuss their grievances with their congressmen.

The mass visit to the Capitol highlights morning activities of delegates to the 38th annual convention of the National Automobile Dealers Assn. The more than 10,000 dealers attending the convention will wind up their meeting tonight.

One of the grievances of the dealers, aired at convention sessions throughout the week, is that they are not getting a fair break from the automobile manufacturers.

The dealers loudly applauded speakers who have sympathized with their views, particularly Sens. A. S. (Mike) Monroney (D-Okla.) and Joseph O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), who headed committees which investigated the automobile industry. Both senators promised to fight for legislation requiring manufacturers to give dealers "more equitable" franchise terms.

In addition to better dealer-factory relations, the convention also discussed need for legislation to curb automobile bootlegging, eliminate "phantom freight" charges and dispend with unsound credit terms and "irresponsible advertising."

President Should Be Capable of 6-Man Job: Truman

NEW YORK — Former President Harry Truman said today that the man who is president of the United States should be capable of doing a "six-man job" or he shouldn't be president.

The 72-year-old former chief executive discussed the presidency this morning on his habitual early morning walk with reporters without mentioning the name of President Eisenhower. He made it plain, however, that he did not think a man with physical incapacities should be in the White House.

Mr. Truman said at a morning news conference that he would be "most interested" in the platform which will be adopted by the Democratic national convention next summer. He said he was sure that the Democratic nominees for the presidency and vice presidency — "and we've got a lot of good men" — would be able to go out and win on the basis of a good platform.

Touching on tensions in the Middle East, the former President said "No one should send arms to any country in the Middle East." He said the situation there should be settled in a peaceable manner, but at the same time he reiterated his stand that arms should be supplied to Israel by the United States if Russia does not desist in arming the Arab countries.

Rend Lake Survey On Schedule, Gray Advised

SPRINGFIELD — The office of Gov. William G. Stratton announced today in reply to a telegram from U. S. Rep. Kenneth Gray (D-West Frankfort), that progress on the Rend Lake survey report is on schedule.

Gray had wired the governor that it was his understanding that a report on the survey was to be ready Jan. 1, but now would not be finished until late this year.

William W. Downey, aide to Stratton, said a report from Thomas B. Casey, chief engineer for the State Waterways Division, said the "overall progress on the project is well within the limit of the work schedule established at the beginning of the biennium."

However, Downey said Casey reported that preliminary data on the Rend Lake Dam site "has not been assembled into a report."

He quoted Casey as saying the report could not be made yet because "it is not possible to provide firm estimates and conclusions" after gathering data on only one phase (the dam site) of the project.

Downey said Casey was writing to Gray, U. S. Rep. Charles Vorse (R-Salem) and C. J. Covington, of the Rend Lake board of trustees, about progress so far on the project.

Finds Billfold With $5,700

DECATUR, Ill. — James Paul Cameron, 18, has served notice he found $5,100 in a billfold on a street here.

Cameron revealed the find Tuesday when he filed affidavits with the county clerk, indicating the money had been found and it had not been "secreted, withheld or disposed of."

The wallet containing the money had no identification. Cameron found it Jan. 17 at the edge of a street as he got out of his car to put a coin in a parking meter.

"Now all he has to do is hold his breath for a year. If the owner doesn't claim the money, it's his."

Except for the queen bee, all bumblebees die in the winter. She alone survives to produce another generation.

Cub Scout Leaders Pow Wow to Be Held At Marion Feb. 19

Plans for a Cub Scout Leaders Pow Wow to be held Feb. 19, from 2 p. m. to 8:30 p. m., at the Marion Junior high school, are rapidly taking shape according to William Hincheliff of Carbondale, and Don O'Neal of Herrin, co-chairmen of the affair.

The Pow Wow is a training experience for Cub Scout leaders of the Egyptian Council from 15 counties of southern Illinois. It will consist of demonstration and instruction in many phases of the Cub Scouting program.

The four major sections of the Pow Wow will be: Handicraft headed by Rex Karnes of Pack 66, Carbondale; Games, under the direction of L. D. Starrick, of Pack 16, Herrin; Pack Administration headed by William Hincheliff, of Pack 37, of Carbondale; The ceremonies section chairman has not yet been selected.

Physical arrangements for the Pow Wow are under the leadership of Frank Sniderwin, of Pack 21, Marion and his committee. The Blue and Gold banquet is being planned and executed by Pack 13 of Harrisburg.

In addition to the four major sections of the Pow Wow there will be a games midway with each Pack demonstrating its favorite game—County Fair style and a display of handicraft projects prepared by each Cub pack. The handicraft displays will show step by step progress in the development of each project.

Each Cub pack in the 15 county council is urged to have at least one representative in each of the four sections of the Pow Wow, which is planned as an annual event of the council for the future. Planning and execution of the Pow Wow is under the direction of the Leadership Training committee of the Egyptian Council Boy Scouts of America.

Joanne Priest to Play Title Role In Thespian Play

Joanne Priest has been named to play the title role in the forthcoming HTHS Thespian club production of "Anne of Green Gables." In announcing the cast, C. L. Bennett, HTHS drama director, said that competition was intense, with more than 50 students trying out for parts.

Rick Hargrave plays the part of Matthew, and Suzy Kihlmire is his stern sister, Marilla. When this lonely old couple decide to take in an orphan boy to help with the chores, a simple mistake changes their way of life. Instead of a boy, their orphan turns out to be a sweet, young girl with a very vivid imagination and a great yearning for a home of her own.

Carolyn Wasson is cast as the rattle-brained friend, Nancy Spencer; Suzy Siefried plays the part of Diana, Anne's best friend; and Roger Wiley is Gilbert, who feuds with Anne.

Others in the cast are Dawan Martin, Dot Winkelman, Phyllis Chenoweth, Jane Capel, Kay Mitchell, George Wright, Norma Butler, and Ed Chase.

The play, with a cast chosen from the entire student body, will be presented Feb. 11, at Bonnell gym.

Rushings to Receive Company Award For Insurance Sales

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Rushing, 118 West Lincoln, Harrisburg, have been notified by their firm, Hardware Mutuals of Stevens Point, Wis., that 1955 figures show he was the company's outstanding Illinois district salesman last year. A week as guest of the company at a Wisconsin resort this summer will be the Rushings' prize.

The firm's Illinois district has headquarters in Chicago and includes the entire state of Illinois. It is one of Hardware Mutuals' 14 districts serving policyholders from coast to coast. Over 650 salesmen were in competition for the 14 districts' leader positions.

The sales leaders and their wives, one couple from each district, will meet the insurance company's president and attend a business meeting at the home office this July. They will then be guests of the company at Maxwellton Braes on Lake Michigan, one of the Midwest's outstanding resorts.

Lane Trades Brooks Lawrence to Reds For Jackie Collum

By United Press
Frank Lane, famed for his trading talent, has completed a swap which he figures is bound to strengthen the Cardinals' bullpen, and from the looks of things, there's more coming.

The trade he made Tuesday involved righthander Brooks Lawrence, and lefty Jackie Collum. Lane sent Lawrence, a disappointment last year after a fine rookie campaign, to the Cincinnati Reds in exchange for Collum, a hard-working little guy who figures to add balance to St. Louis' predominantly right-handed relief corps.

"It's not earth-shaking," he admitted, "but it's a start."
Lane may visit the Redlegs and Chicago Cubs training camps later in the spring after those clubs have had a chance to appraise their own talent and Gabe Paul, the Cincinnati general manager, and Wid Mathews, in charge of Chicago player personnel, might like to make it a round robin affair.

Highland Trips Alton, 100-54, In Big Surprise

By United Press
Highland beat Alton by the amazing margin of 100-54 in the big surprise of Illinois high school basketball Tuesday night.

Highland had compiled a 10-4 record, losing to such teams as Madison, Greenville, Duplo and Johnston City along the way. Alton had piled up a 15-5 mark against some of the best in the state. But it wasn't the defeat so much as the margin of victory for Highland which was the surprise.

Effingham St. Anthony, another small school with an upset victory over Alton, outclassed Beecher City 60-26. East Peoria continued its tumble, losing its third in a row by bowing to Havana 60-37.

Albion won its 16th against only two losses, both to Carmi, by whipping Clay City 85-55. Quincy Notre Dame trounced Macomb 68-61.

Washington made it 16-3 for the season with a 68-34 win from Metamora. Little Minier won its 20th against a lone setback in breezing by Armstrong 69-29.

Atlanta grabbed victory No. 17, with only two losses, by downing Hayworth 70-64. Paxton, 16-3, leader of the Waukegan conference, dumped Gilman 59-45.

In the Eastern Illinois League tournament, Kansas, Paris, Effingham and Robinson won opening round games. Paris outran Casey 75-43, and Robinson was a 61-53 victor over Neoga.

Shawneetown, Rosiclare, Pope County Win; Ridgway Loses to Thompsonville

Greater Egyptian conference teams went outside the league Tuesday night and three of the clubs picked up victories, while one lost.

Shawneetown ran away from Crossville, 79-58, to pick up its 22nd consecutive victory of the season. Nolan, Drone and Ellis scored 17 points each and Gunzel was close with 13 as the winning Shawneetown team displayed a well-balanced scoring attack. Nine of the eleven players getting in action for the winners scored.

The Rosiclare Bears travelled to Brookport and edged out with a 59-58 decision. The winners trailed at the end of the quarter 18-13 and was still one point behind, 32-31, at half time.

By the end of three quarters Rosiclare had forged to the front 46-40 and staged off a last period surge by Brookport. D. Seay of Rosiclare had 14 points to lead his team, but Pryor of Brookport was the game's leading point maker with 28.

Pope County won from the invading Karnak team, 56-42, with a big third quarter spurge.

The score was knotted 12-12 at the quarter and Karnak led 26-24 at halftime, but Pope County raced to a 47-34 advantage during the third quarter and won by a decisive 14-point margin. Walker pitched in 22 markers for the winners and W. Douglas had 14 for Brookport.

A big second frame gave Thompsonville a commanding lead at halftime, which stood up for the rest of the game. In the second period the winners outscored Ridgway 27-12 and went to the dressing rooms at intermission with a 44-24 lead. The game was evenly played in the last two quarters.

Mills scored 26 points and Lawler rebounded well for the Ridgway crew. Hogsdon of Thompsonville was the game's leading scorer with 28 points.

The Minneapolis Lakers' slow comeback, since George Mikan returned to the squad, moved them within a half-game of second place in the Western Division of the National Basketball Assn. today on another victory sparked by "Large Jarge."

The Lakers downed second-place Rochester, 92-86, at St. Louis Tuesday night in the first half of a twin bill.

The second game saw the St. Louis Hawks score 63 points in the first half as they trounced the Boston Celtics, 114-91. And the league's only other action saw the New York Knicks bookers down the Philadelphia Warriors, 105-95, at New York.

The Lakers trailed, 84-83, when Mikan sank three straight free throws to put them ahead with four minutes to play. They never fell behind again as Mikan scored 19 points and Clyde Lovellette 20.

Paul Arizin scored 38 points for the Warriors at New York, but the Knicks won as they celebrated "Dick McGuire Night." Playmaker McGuire reaped the evening's honors as fans paid him tribute for seven years of stardom with the Knicks. The former St. John's star received many presents, including a car, and gifts from the Warriors and the Celtics.

U. S. Wins First Gold Medal in Winter Olympics

CORTINA, Italy (AP)—Hayes Alan Jenkins, 22-year-old Colorado college dervish, earned America's first gold medal in the 1956 winter Olympics today when he won the men's figure skating championship.

In a superb demonstration of precise skating in icy weather, Jenkins beat out 18-year-old Ronnie Robertson of Long Beach, Calif., for the title, ending America's point famine that had existed through the first 14 events of the Olympic program.

David Jenkins, Hayes' 19-year-old brother, took third place, giving the United States a 1-2-3 sweep. This harvest of 19 points raised the Americans' total to 28½ points and boosted them from ninth to sixth place in the unofficial team standings.

Robertson's free skating figures were termed more original by European experts, but the judges gave Jenkins a higher point score on the basis of his near-flawless execution. Jenkins had opened a lead Sunday in the compulsory figures of the competition. He maintained his advantage with his brilliant exhibition in the free skating phase that completed the championship.

Jenkins, who skated in the shadow of America's two-time Olympic champion, Dick Button, for many years as a teen-ager before emerging as U. S. figure skating champion when Button retired, realized a life-long ambition by his Olympic triumph.

Falls Third Attempt

A Swiss girl and three untiring Finnish women's skiers won the two other Olympic championships on today's schedule.

Madeleine Berthod, Switzerland's "skiing milkmaid," celebrated her 25th birthday by winning the women's downhill ski race by a record margin over her closest rival. In this event, Andrea Mead Lawrence of Parshall, Colo., failed in her third attempt to win a gold medal in the 1956 winter games.

In the women's 15-kilometer cross country relay race, Siiri Rantanen, Finnish mother of four children, overcame a 6-second deficit on the final leg to provide her nation with a smashing triumph over Russia's world champions.

Miss Berthod, a young farm girl from the western Swiss Alps country, won a gold medal in the downhill event after mistreatment had ruined her chances in two previous slalom races. A leading favorite in both events, Miss Berthod missed a gate and wound up fourth in the giant slalom last Friday and then finished far back in the field when she fell in the special slalom last Monday.

Sirkka Polkunen, Mirja Hietamies and Siiri Rantanen comprised the Finnish threesome that covered the 9.3 mile course on the Campo Plain southwest of Cortina in one hour, nine minutes and one second for their victory.

Baseball Coach

Resigns at Wake

Forest College

WAKE FOREST, N. C. (AP)—Wake Forest College's athletic problems were back today after the sudden resignation of Baseball Coach Taylor Sanford.

Sanford, who coached the demon Deacons to the college "world championship" last summer, quit Tuesday because "I was given no assurance that I will have a job here after June 30."

He called a team meeting to announce his decision, which he had reached "only a couple of days ago," and then handed a formal letter of resignation to Dr. Harold W. Tribble, president of the Baptist institution.

It was the third blow-up in the Wake Forest athletic department since the Dec. 3 resignation of Athletic Director Pat Preston and Head Football Coach Tom Rogers.

Last week the college hired former Army assistant Paul Amen to replace Rogers and named FBI agent William H. Gibson athletic director.

Omaha, Old Shawneetown

Win Games in District

Tournament at Ridgway

Omaha and Old Shawneetown won in the Ridgway grade school district tournament Tuesday night. In the opening game Omaha defeated Dorrisville 34-29 and in the nightcap Old Shawneetown raced to a 64-38 victory over New Haven.

Three games will be played today, starting at 5 p. m. The pairings for today's session: Equality vs. Muddy, Galatia vs. New Shawneetown and Omaha vs. St. Joseph of Ridgway.

Pairings Drawn For Cage Finals At Champaign

West Frankfort Winner to Play Victor at Moline

CHICAGO (AP)—Pairings were drawn Tuesday for the state high school basketball tournament finals at Champaign March 16-17.

The pairings were based on first-round "finals" to be played at Decatur, Evanston, Hinsdale, Moline, Peoria, Salem, Springfield and West Frankfort.

Pairings for the quarter-final "finals" at Champaign will be:

Game 1: Winner at Springfield vs. winner at Salem.

Game 2: Winner at Peoria vs. winner at Hinsdale.

Game 3: Winner at Moline vs. winner at West Frankfort.

Game 4: Winner at Evanston vs. winner at Decatur.

Pairings were also drawn for sectional tournaments. Winners, according to alphabetical order of their regional sites, will play: Winner at Site 2 vs. winner at Site 1; and winner at Site 3 vs. winner at Site 4. Then the victors in the opening games will play for the right to advance to one of the eight first-round "finals" games.

The first-round finals or "super sectional" games will be played at 8 p. m. March 13 with winners advancing to Champaign where games will be played at 1:15 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. March 16-17.

The pairings added little to what was previously known about the assignments of specific teams. However, if Rockford West, 1955 champions and the favored to repeat, advances to the sectional, it would meet the Mount Morris regional winner in the opening game. If Rockford West wins its sectional as expected, it would then play the East Moline sectional winner, which would likely come from among such strong northwestern area teams as Moline, Rock Island, East Moline, Galesburg or Rock Island Alleman.

If Rockford West survives this "super-sectional" test, the pairings would pit them against the West Frankfort super-sectional entry, which could include any of the several southern Illinois leaders.

Buck Weaver,

Barred in Black

Sox Scandal, Dies

CHICAGO (AP)—George (Buck) Weaver's dream of clearing his name may come true someday, but it will be too late.

Weaver, 64, once a famed third baseman with the Chicago White Sox, collapsed suddenly and died Tuesday on a South Side street not far from his home. He apparently suffered a heart attack.

Weaver was one of eight members of the 1919 White Sox team charged with "throwing" the World Series of that year to Cincinnati in the famed "Black Sox" scandal. The eight were barred from baseball.

But Weaver throughout the years maintained his innocence and made several efforts to return to baseball. Once 30,000 persons signed a petition asking for his reinstatement.

Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis, who barred the players, remained firm. In effect, Landis blamed Weaver for not reporting overtures made to him to the proper authorities.

Weaver broke in with the White Sox in 1912 and was a star almost immediately. Always known as a great fielder, he hit 300 in 1917 and .296 in 1919, both Sox pennant years. He hit 333 in 1920 before the scandal broke.

With professional baseball closed to him, Weaver played semi-pro baseball for many years in the Chicago area. In recent years, he had been a mutual clerk at Chicago race tracks.

A-Energy Will Boost Production of Food, Also Intensify Surplus Problem

WASHINGTON — A special committee said today that atomic energy holds the promise of an abundance of food for the entire world.

But the committee warned it also could "intensify the already grave problems" of U. S. farm surpluses.

The advisory panel of civilians predicted that peaceful uses of atomic energy in the agricultural field will result in "higher farm output, more flexibility as to the crops and animals produced, and ultimately more varied diets at lower costs."

It will mean "increased productivity and lower costs for individual farmers," the committee said in a report to the House-Senate Committee on Atomic Energy. But it added:

"For the nation as a whole these higher yields could, if widely achieved, intensify the already grave problem of farm surpluses." Application of atomic energy developments to the agriculture of foreign countries, particularly underdeveloped ones, also would threaten to further cut exports of U. S. farm crops, the report warned.

However, the panel recommended that this country give high priority to a program to help underdeveloped nations take advantage of farm applications of atomic energy.

Atomic radiation already has resulted in breeding of "useful new plant varieties," the committee said.

"We can hope to develop many more—types adaptable to wider ranges of climate, rain and soil; more resistant to diseases and insects; tailored to mechanized cultivation and harvesting."

House Votes Aid for School Milk Program

By United Press
The House voted unanimously today to ante up another 10 million dollars to finance the school milk program.

It sent to the Senate a bill raising to 60 million dollars funds the Commodity Credit Corp. is permitted to spend in supplying milk for school children during the current school year.

President Eisenhower reported in his farm message last month that some states are running out of funds.

The Senate Agriculture Committee meantime stepped up action on a broad farm bill designed to help farmers recover from the tight price squeeze. A tentative, 109-page draft calls for a "soil bank," return to rigid price supports and a two-price system for rice.

Other congressional news:
Economic Outlook: Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on the Economic Report, said the Budget Bureau is a "prophet of gloom and doom" which is forecasting a business slump in the next fiscal year. Noting that the administration hurled the same charge against him in 1954, he said "certain emotionally insecure" Republicans often go into a "tizzy." Budget Director Rowland R. Hughes replied that Douglas' charges were not true; that the Budget Bureau worked from estimates "in sight" and hoped the outlook would improve.

Natural Gas: Sen. Edward P. Martin (R-Pa.) charged in the 13th day of Senate debate that defeat of the natural gas bill would "greatly increase" costs to consumers. He said continued federal regulation of natural gas producers would discourage a search for new supplies and lead eventually to a "shortage of gas and higher prices to consumers."

Bang's Disease: The House voted to increase from 15 to 17 million dollars funds the CCC can spend during the present fiscal year to pay farmers for cattle slaughtered under a federal-state program to curtail brucellosis. This is the so-called Bang's disease or contagious abortion in cattle.

Predict Vaccine Soon For 40 Million Children

WASHINGTON — Some insiders predicted today that enough Salk polio vaccine will be released in the next several months to inoculate more than 40 million children.

They based their optimism on indications from drug manufacturers that vaccine production finally is ready to spurt after having lagged for months.

For one thing, they said, there is a good chance Parke Davis & Co. will get back into the market shortly. The firm, one of the nation's two biggest vaccine producers, shut down its production lines after the polio snafu last summer.

If droppings from fresh flowers have left small pits on furniture, rub the surface with a damp, sudsy cloth. Then apply wax or polish and the smooth luster will be restored.

363 Crippled Children Aided by Area Association

It was a big year for crippled children in southern Illinois in 1955, according to Clyde L. Choate, president of the Southern Illinois Association For The Crippled, Inc.

Reporting on the year's program of services, Choate of Anna, said that 363 children received care, treatment and other services by the Southern Illinois Association For The Crippled, Inc. The children helped increased 99 per cent over the 1954 total. Contribution by southern Illinoisans from all over the 33 southernmost counties of Illinois to the annual Easter Seal campaign supported and maintained the program, which also reached more than 20 handicapped adults.

Choate reported that major activities of the society were carried out at the Easter Seal Treatment Center, Carbondale, which offered speech and hearing and related services to children and adults crippled by many conditions.

Other direct aid to the crippled was provided through the summer camping program for crippled children. This program is conducted each year at Giant City State Park and Little Grassy Lake.

Rep. Gordon Kerr Announces He Will Seek Re-Nomination

Rep. Gordon E. Kerr

Rep. Gordon E. Kerr of Brookport, this week announced that he will seek re-nomination to the Republican ticket for State Representative.

Kerr is now serving his third term from the 51st district. Because of reapportionment the district was enlarged, with Williamson, Gallatin and Hardin counties being added. The new number is the 59th representative district.

Kerr, age 43, is a veteran of War II, member of Board of Education, merchant, bank director and former county official.

In the General Assembly he is chairman of the Veterans and Military committees and is serving his second appointment on the important State House commission. He plans on making an active campaign.

Both Parties to Select Precinct Committeemen at April 10 Election

Despite the fact that voters will cast the primary ballot on April 10, there's one race on each ticket that is final.

These races are for the precinct committeemen of the county and where there are contests they are not Republican vs. Democrat, but Democrat vs. Democrat and Republican vs. Republican.

There are 34 precincts in Saline county and every two years each party elects 34 precinct heads in the primary voting. That means there will be 68 committeemen elected April 10, with the voters marking ballots only for a party candidate from the precinct in which the ballot is cast.

A survey of the filings shows that 88 candidates are running for these posts, and there are both Republicans and Democrats filed for each and every one of the 34 precincts.

Survey of Contests
The survey also shows that the Democrats have contests in 10 precincts, the Republicans in eight.

Wisk-New Heavy-Duty Liquid for Family Wash Introduced In Daily Register Area

The market area served by The Daily Register has been chosen by Lever Brothers Company for the introduction of a revolutionary new product for home laundry—Wisk.

The product, which will be introduced by grocerymen this week is a heavy-duty blue liquid detergent, designed to do a better job on every type of washable fabric.

Prior to the introduction of Wisk, thousands of consumer tests were made to measure the effectiveness of the product for home laundering. All kinds of articles and fabrics were washed, under normal home conditions.

According to Lever Brothers, the homemakers' interest in the product was keen and they were quick to see the advantages of a heavy-duty liquid detergent.

They point out the instant solubility and immediate penetration of fabrics for thorough soil removal, and state that laundering results gave conclusive evidence of the product's superior washing power and safeness for even the most delicate fabrics—and hands, too.

Home tests also showed the effectiveness of Wisk for whitening cottons and nylons. The product not only whitened clothes better than any other detergent but it actually restored yellowed nylons to nearly new condition.

Although designed especially for laundering, homemakers were soon using Wisk to clean their discolored kitchen cabinets, weather-beaten screen doors, bathtub rings and greasy stoves. They were delighted with its superior cleaning efficiency and agreed with the Lever chemists that nothing else could get so many things so clean.

Unconditionally guaranteed by Lever Brothers Company, Wisk comes in attractively designed cans. The unbreakable containers—pint and quart-sized—have specially designed dripless spouts for easy pouring and elimination of waste. In addition to the approval of enthusiastic consumer testers, Wisk carries seals of approval from both Good Housekeeping and Parents' Magazine.

Megran Will Not Seek Re-Election To U. of I. Board

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Herbert B. Megran of Harvard, president of the University of Illinois board of trustees, today announced he will not seek re-election to the board in 1956.

Megran said he had so notified the alumni committee now preparing a list of nominees for submission to the Republican state convention.

Megran was elected to a six-year term in 1950 and the term will expire in 1957. He has been president of the board for the last two years.

The other two members of the board whose terms expire in 1957 have indicated they wish to be candidates. They are Timothy Swain of Peoria, who was appointed to serve out the unexpired term of Harold (Red) Grange after Grange moved to California, and Wayne A. Johnston of Chicago, president of the Illinois Central railroad.

Knowland is In

Editorial By Bruce Bissat

The entry of Senator William Knowland's name in the April 10
Illinois Republican primary gives the GOP presidential campaign its first competitive look. President Eisenhower's name already is in this race, and evidently neither he nor Knowland intends to withdraw.

This is also the first development on the Republican side which has not come within the control of the party's Eisenhower forces. Up to now they have managed to keep a tight rein.

The effect has been to delay or dissuade some possible candidates from getting into action. Filing deadlines for several primaries have gone by. During this long period of indecision respecting the President's intentions toward a second term, friends of Knowland have indicated more than once that the senator was growing impatient.

Recently, however, Mr. Eisenhower himself invited others in his party to step in, at the very moment he was making it plain he had no objection to the entry of his name in certain primaries. Perhaps this was all the Knowland forces needed to justify their breaking the barrier.

Anyway, Knowland is in. He can still get out quickly if Mr.
Eisenhower should say he will run again. But by getting in now he serves notice to his party and the voters that if the President retires
his own candidacy is a serious one.

Whatever the plans of the Eisenhower leaders in the party, Knowland's entry must surely have the effect of taking their thinking out of the casual stage. If they have their minds set on a particular replacement for the President
—if it comes to that—then they see now that specific maneuvers in his behalf must be speedily shaped.

Should key Eisenhower men have instead merely a list of potential candidates to substitute for the President, then this development should induce them to narrow their choice in preparation for a contest.

No one can say at this time how much strength may rally around Knowland if Mr. Eisenhower rules out a second term and the lists are open. He already has a strong appeal to the party's more conservative elements. Whether this is enough to enable him to take the nomination, or even make a real fight of it, is not yet apparent.

But this event in Illinois is a message to many in the party that there are at least some elements in its ranks which will resist the idea of handing the nomination to anybody on a platter. Anybody, that is, except Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The Daily Washington MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Natural Gas Voting Will Severely Test Senate Ethics Under Rule 12; Senators With Gas-Oil Investments Should Not Vote On Bill; Senators
Kerr, Long And Others With Gas Interests Have Helped Lead Gas Fight.

WASHINGTON. — One of the most important things to watch
in the voting on the Fulbright-Harris natural gas bill will be whether certain senators follow Rule 12.

This is the rule which disqualifies any senator with a pecuniary or pocketbook interest in any legislation. This rule does not force a senator to refrain from voting
but, according to the Senate parliamentarian, it has been the practice to abide strictly by this rule.

Thus Sen. Warren Austin, Vermont Republican, disqualified himself from voting on a tax bill because he had investments in oil.

When it comes to gas-oil matters, however, there have been flagrant abuses of Rule 12. Simultaneously, senators have piously investigated conflicts of interest in the executive branch of government and demanded the resignation of Harold Talbott as Air Force secretary because he had a business interest which conflicted with his job in the government.

Yet some of them have done exactly what Talbott did.

One of the most flagrant abusers of Senate Rule 12 is Sen. Bob Kerr, likable, able, Bible-pounding solon from Oklahoma who owns $100,000,000 in proven gas-oil reserves, yet who maneuvered the first natural gas bill through Congress only to have it vetoed by Truman.

KERR'S CONFLICT
Senator Kerr and his partner in Kerr-McGee Oil Industries officially reported a 1949 gross income of $14,930,150, with a net income of $1,218,628. In 1948 their gross income was $12,538,058, on which was paid a tax of only $25,053 —
due to the generous oil-gas dependency benefits given the oil-gas companies under the federal tax laws.

Kerr's company has had at least four contracts to sell natural gas in interstate commerce, and thus will immediately benefit from the law now being voted in Congress.
One is with Texas Gas Transmission company, one with Southern Natural Gas, one with Trunkline
Gas Supply, and one with El Paso Natural Gas.

These records are all on file
with the Federal Power Commission. Yet the senator from Oklahoma brazenly pushed the first natural gas act and voted for it.
He did not step aside under Rule 12.

Significantly Senator Kerr and his company are one of the biggest suppliers of natural gas to Phillips Petroleum. He was also the recipient of quite a windfall from Phillips when the company assigned 100 square miles of proven gas reserves to Kerr's Tascose Gas company, in December 1949,
for drilling.

The date could have been significant. For this was just as the senator was readying the Kerr natural gas bill for passage by the Senate.

Kerr's profits from this windfall were estimated at between $1,297,000 and $2,152,000, an estimate made by Phillips Vice President K. E. Beall, who vigorously objected to letting this gas-land
bonanza fall into the senator's lap.
During the current Senate debate on natural gas, the genial Bob Kerr is lying low. His activity hurt too much during the 1950 debate, and astute Sen. Lyndon Johnson, real mastermind behind the present bill, advised Kerr to stay in the background.

However, Senate Rule 12 still applies, and it will be highly interesting to see whether Kerr invokes it and refrains from voting. If he doesn't, it's highly unlikely that any senator will challenge him.
For the Senate has the power to investigate almost anyone under the sun, including the New York Times. But it's the unwritten rule that it never investigates itself.

OTHER SENATORS

Though Bob Kerr is the outstanding oilman in the Senate,

there are others who hold oil-gas
stocks and oil-gas lands.

One of these is Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana, who with his family owns part of the Win-Or-Lose Oil company in Louisiana.
Senator Long once informed me that an estimate of $25,000 for one share of stock in this company was not far out of line.

Senator Long has stood up brazenly on the Senate floor and helped lead the debate for the natural gas bill. He has been unabashed in championing his own private pocketbook interest and it's highly unlikely that he will voluntarily invoke Rule 12.

Nor is it likely, so-called Senate courtesy being what it is, that any other senator will challenge him.

Another senator who owns oil-gas property is Ellender of Louisiana, while both Senators Daniel and Johnson of Texas have received heavy contributions from oil-gas interests. So much money was volunteered for Senator Daniel by the gas-oil interests in advance that Sen. Tom Connally, a conscientious public servant who frequently bucked the oil-gas boys, bowed out of the race.

Lyndon Johnson's biggest money
backer during his political career has been George Brown and members of the Brown and Root firm.
It was at the home of George Brown, himself the head of a big gas pipeline company, that Lyndon was stricken with his heart attack. Lyndon has done favors for this company which would amaze the nation.

SENATE ETHICS

In the old days of Sens. George
Norris, Bob LaFollette, Hugo
Black and Warren Austin, one or more of these Senate stalwarts might have risen up to challenge the voting privilege of a colleague who had a pecuniary interest in the bill.

But today that isn't likely to happen. The precedent of the Nixon private-expense fund, with its patent conflict of interest, and the tendency to vote for the interests that put up the money to elect a senator, is firmly rooted with a large group of senators. Other senators would like to stand up for so-called Senate ethics but don't like to buck the leadership. It isn't popular. It also makes life difficult when committee assignments are being passed around.

So the real loser in the voting on the natural gas bill, if Senate Rule 12 is not invoked, will be the American democratic system. For the American public will know what the score is and will think less of the men it sends to Washington—which is not a happy state of affairs in a day when we are fighting to preserve the American form of government.

Note 1—One senator who has no pecuniary interest in the natural gas bill but is having a struggle with himself is Sen. Dennis Chavez, Democrat of New Mexico.
Chavez has spent most of his career
championing the housewife,
labor groups and the little fellow.
Recently he's been pressured by the persuasive leadership of Texas' Lyndon Johnson and some of the big gas-oil interests.

Note 2—The gas-oil senators are so confident of victory that they have dropped word to certain Senate colleagues up for re-election this year that they don't need their vote—among them Butler of Maryland, who comes from a gas-consuming state, and George of Georgia. The gas senators figure they can get by without jeopardizing the re-election chances of certain friends.

Ask Court to Force Minimum Pay By Two Coal Groups

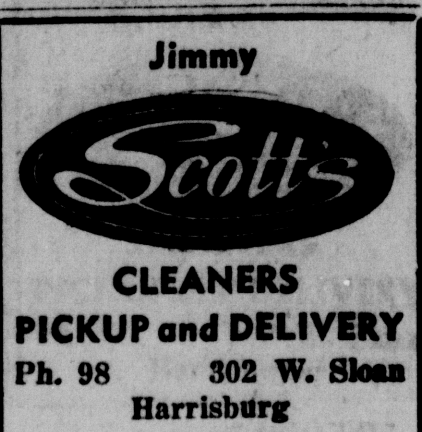

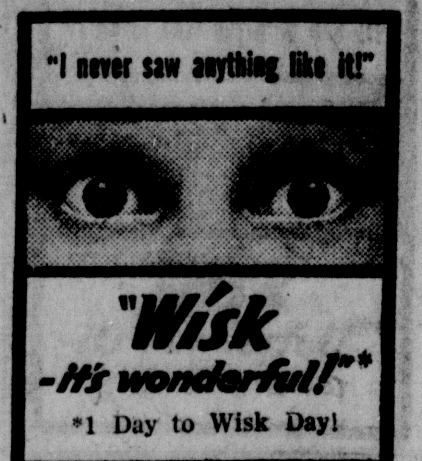

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Jus-

Court here today to force two bituminous coal associations to pay minimum wage standards to employees producing coal for the gov-

The coal association, represent-contesting a Labor Department order requiring them to pay the pre-valing industry wage minimum of $2.24½ an hour.

The firms claim hearings failed to prove the necessity for the wage standards.

The groups protesting the order

TRIUMPH OVER TOOTH DECAY

Crest Toothpaste with Fluoristan
actually strengthens tooth enamel to lock out decay

FLUORISTAN IS FLUORIDE IN ITS MOST EFFECTIVE FORM—PREVENTS CAVITIES FOR ADULTS AS WELL AS CHILDREN

Miracle of the Towns Without Toothaches. For years, children growing up in several Western towns were virtually without tooth decay.
Then science learned the reason why: nature's decay-preventive, fluoride, was present in the water they drank every day!

Prevents Most Cavities Where Toothbrush Can't Reach! Even between teeth, where food particles lodge (arrows), Crest gives the greatest protection ever known.
Crest penetrates between teeth,
strengthens enamel of entire tooth
against decay.

Science Long Tried To Put Fluoride—only medically approved
preventive of decay—in a toothpaste.
But merely adding fluoride does not work. At last, university scientists and Procter & Gamble discovered Fluoristan—an exclusive new fluoride compound.

Never Before Such Decay Prevention! Crest has been proven in the most extensive and best-documented research ever conducted on a toothpaste. The record of decay prevention established by Crest Toothpaste has never been equalled
by any other product.

Fluoristan Makes Possible Crest —world's greatest weapon against tooth decay. Unless you get Fluoristan, you cannot get the full benefits of fluoride in a toothpaste. Crest with Fluoristan protects all permanent teeth, for adults and for children, six and over.

Actually Strengthens Enamel.
Crest combines with and strengthens tooth enamel as you brush. Microphoto at left shows how enamel strengthened by Crest ingredient defies decay acids, while unprotected enamel (right) is eaten away by decay acids.

Tastes Wonderful—Refreshes Your Breath! Crest locks out bad breath caused by decay as no other toothpaste can. Best tasting, by actual tests. Every Crest brush-ing strengthens enamel against decay! Get Crest today!

A 100-pound boulder fell from a roadside hill and crashed through the roof of the car in which they were riding. It brushed against the boy's head and the mother's neck. Special Census by Cities with Increase in Population Brings More Gas Tax Funds

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—State and federal statistics today show fast-growing Illinois communities are turning their increased populations into gas tax fund bonanzas.

Since state motor fuel taxes are divided among cities on the basis of population determined by the last official census, the growing communities can lose a lot of revenue if they wait for the next general census in 1960.

But all a community has to do to head off this loss and collect a fatter share of the gas taxes is get a bigger population and have it counted by the federal census bureau in a special census.

C. F. Aiken, state finance department comptroller, said 124 communities already have taken advantage of the special census gimmick since it was approved by an attorney general's opinion in 1953.

Normal Gets Bigger Share

The village of Normal recently got itself a bigger share of gas tax pie by having a special census taken.

The special census gave Normal an increase of 1,732 persons over the 1950 count of 11,524. Cost to the village for the special census was about $2,100.

But the village will get an added $8,400 a year in gas tax revenue. And any other municipality can do the same thing — provided it really has the increased population.

Aiken said 32 per cent of the gas tax collected each month is paid to cities on the basis of a total population in Illinois cities of 7,486,410 persons.

The amount for municipalities is divided by the total population, then each city is paid according to its share of the total.

For example, the $3,391,012 in gas taxes for municipalities in January, divided by the total population, came to 45.9 cents for each resident. This figure was then multiplied by the official population for each municipality.

Need Special Census

Aiken said each person would bring a city or village about $5.25 a year in gas taxes. Thus, a population increase of 1,000 persons would mean an increase of about $5,250 a year in gas taxes.

Since Census Bureau officials say a city of about 25,000 population can get a special census taken for about 15 cents per name, the profit of such a census is obvious.

Theodore F. Olson, regional Census Bureau supervisor at Chicago, said the bureau handles all special census requests as fast as possible. Interested cities can write to the Census Bureau, estimating their growth since 1950, and ask for an estimate of cost. After studying the information, along with city maps, the bureau will assign the census and fix a price.

Olson said a town of about 500 might be charged $200 for the census supervisor sent to the town, plus 6 cents a name. He said the total goes up progressively for larger communities but down on a per capita basis.

Aiken said most of the towns which have had special censuses taken since 1953 were in the fast-growing metropolitan area of Chicago.

Saline, Pope Selected for Farm Survey

Pope and Saline counties are among twelve counties in Illinois which have been selected for a national survey being made by the United States Department of Agriculture and the Bureau of the Census. The Illinois Cooperative Crop Reporting Service will direct the survey in this state. This is the first nationwide interview survey of farmers' expenditures for goods and services bought for both family living and agricultural production purposes. The work will begin on Monday, Feb. 6.

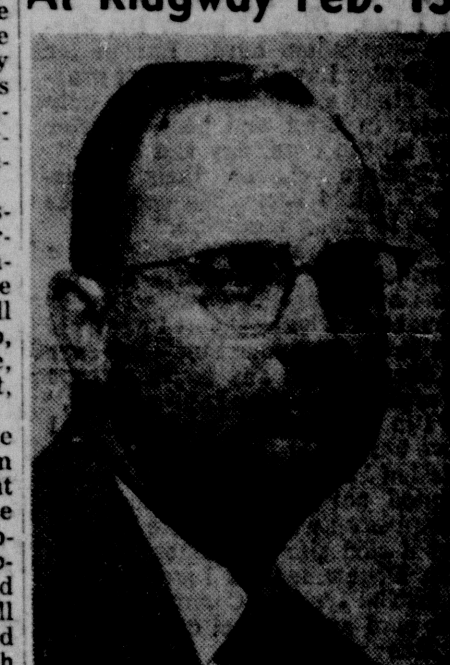

Alvin Derrick Gates of Harrisburg has been designated to interview a selected number of farmers in this county. The twelve counties in which the survey will be made are: Crawford, DeKalb, Hancock, Jo Daviess, Kankakee, Macoupin, Mercer, Morgan, Piatt, Pope, Saline, and Vermilion.

The survey will provide accurate and up-to-date information on farm expenditures essential in current studies of the cost-price squeeze on farmers. Reports will be obtained from about 10,000 farm operators throughout the United States. Every farmer's report will be held absolutely confidential and used only in combination with those from other farmers to obtain Regional and United States totals. The final results will be used by government agencies, state colleges, legislators, and agricultural groups interested in farm expenditures and their relationship to farm income.

This information on the buying habits of American farmers both as to the kinds of goods and services and their relative importance, will be used in revising and modernizing the Index of Prices Paid by Farmers, including interest, taxes, and wage rates—also known as the Parity index. It will also be used to improve estimates of net farm income. The Parity index is used in calculating parity prices of farm products.

Because of the great changes that have occurred not only in prices and incomes but also in production techniques, farm families are spending more money and spending it differently today than in earlier years. The great need for up-to-date and accurate information on farm expenditures prompted the Congress to authorize this nationwide survey in which this county has a part.

Swine Production Course to Begin At Ridgway Feb. 13

Joseph P. Burnside

Joseph P. Burnside, swine specialist in the Southern Illinois University School of Agriculture, will open a six weeks' evening short course in swine production for farmers in the Ridgway high school Feb. 13.

The group will meet one night weekly, the first session beginning at 7:30 p. m. Burnside says the course will deal with swine feeding, management, and other production problems. The course will be offered through the cooperation of the SIU School of Agriculture, the SIU Division of Technical and Adult Education, and the Ridgway high school. David Heaton, Ridgway, is in charge of local arrangements.

Burnside, a native of Tallahassee, Fla., joined the SIU agricultural faculty August 1, 1955. He came to SIU for three years and was stock toxicologist at the Georgia Coastal Plain Experiment Station, Tifton, Ga. During his experience at station work Burnside has written a number of papers and lectured a chapter dealing with swine for a book on cattle diseases.

Just a Corpse at Twilight

By Robert Martin

THE STORY: James Bennett, investigator for the State Industrial Welfare Commission, went to Beech Tree, a small village, to find out the exact cause of Frank Osborn's death six months ago. He has made arrangements with the undertaker, Wilbur Tweed, to hold an autopsy at his funeral parlors.

11

The Winchester Inn was built of red bricks which had faded through maybe 100 years to the pale color of blood diluted with water. It stood high and square in the center of a circular drive which no doubt had once been cobblestones but which was now sleek black asphalt. A black-and-white sign over the portico read, Winchester Inn — Rooms — Meals — Cocktail Lounge. On the lawn facing the square stood another sign, wired for neon. The unlighted glass tubes said simply Tourists.

I wasn't a guest, but I parked my car in the reserved area, walked back beneath the portico to the front stoop.

I stepped into the lobby. At first it, too, seemed deserted. Then I saw a movement behind the desk. I walked over. A girl sat before the switchboard, her slender back toward me. She was reading a book open on her crossed knees while one small moccasined foot bobbed nervously. I stood for a moment gazing down at her. Then I said, "Pardon me."

She turned and looked up at me with startled blue eyes. Her face was small, like the rest of her, a short nose faintly dusted with freckles, a soft little lip-stuck mouth, sand-tinted eyebrows neatly plucked and now arched in surprise. "Oh!" she gasped. "You scared me."

"I'm sorry," I nodded at the book on her knee. "That must be a very absorbing story."

"It is." She held it up for me to see. The jacket illustration depicted a cemetery with the tombstones glowing red in a setting sun against a somber background of bare gnarled branches. The title was "Just a Corpse at Twilight" and the author, whose name was Pat Carstairs, smacking of a pseudonym, was unknown to me.

"Nice title," I said. "It's a pretty good book," she said seriously. "I read them all, and I don't wait for the paperback reprints to come out."

"I'm afraid I never heard of Pat Carstairs."

"I like him," she said. "No clichés, no hard-boiled stuff, no whiskey and blunder and all the rest. He just writes about real people with real problems. Why, even without the murders, his books are interesting, and that's the supreme test of a mystery novel, don't you think?"

"I never thought much about it," I admitted, "but you may have a point. Could you tell me if—?"

"Yes," she broke in, "we have a room."

"I don't want a room. I just wanted to ask if Dr. Jarrett is in."

Her blue eyes narrowed suspiciously. "How do you know Dr. Jarrett lives here?"

I leaned across the desk. "Don't spread it around," I said confidentially, "but I've been tailing Doc. I'm a private eye."

"Please," she said crisply. "Are you one of the doctor's patients?"

I sighed. "No, Miss. If you would just tell me..."

"He's not here," she said in the same crisp voice. "This is his day off." Her eyes flared defiantly. "Even doctors are entitled to a day off. If you will tell me your name I will be glad to give him any message."

"You're his secretary?"

A faint flush touched her cheeks and her eyes wavered. "Well, no, not exactly. I—I'm just his landlady, sort of. I like to help him all I can. Dick—I mean Dr. Jarrett—works too hard. Except for old Doctor Lavel, who doesn't practice much any more, he's the only doctor in town and people pester him all the time, day and night."

"Doctors choose their profession," I told her. "No one forces them to study medicine."

She gazed at me silently for a moment, and then slowly her expression softened. "I guess I never thought of it before. But I'm afraid you're wasting your time—I'm sure he doesn't need any gauze or tape or aspirin tablets or hypo needles."

"I'm not selling anything," I gave her one of the cards the Commission had furnished me. It was printed, not engraved, because the Commission was on a state budget, and it said simply, James T. Bennett, Department of Investigation, Industrial Welfare Commission. On this card and several others I had written with a pen, Blue Ridge Hotel, Steel City.

She glanced at the card and dropped it on the desk. "I'm sorry, Mr. Bennett, but the doctor is in Steel City and I don't know when he'll be back."

"I'll wait a while," I said, and jerked my head toward the tap room. "Will it be all right if I have a quiet beer?"

"Certainly," she said coolly. "Draft or bottled?"

"Are you the bartender, too?"

"Today I am. Our regular bartender is at the hospital. His wife's having a baby."

"Bottled," I said. I followed her across the hall and into the bar. The girl took a bottle from an ice chest, wiped it with a towel, expertly snapped off the cap on an opener beneath the bar, and placed it before me beside a tall glass. "Thirty cents," she said.

I laid a nickel and a quarter on the bar.

The girl rang up the money in a register behind the bar and turned back to me. "Call me if you want me." She went through the doorway to the lobby, leaving a faint perfume trail.

Glancing at the muted drone of a radio speaker, it was very quiet.

I drank my beer and smoked a cigaret. A folded newspaper lay on the bar. I opened it idly, saw that it was The Beech Tree Clarion and that it was published every week, on Thursdays, as most weeklies are. That would make it yesterday's paper. I glanced at the front page, noted the canned wire services stories on national and world events, as well as a variety of local items, including one which was headed, CARELESS SHOOTING A MENACE. I began to read.

Within the past week complaints have been received by Sheriff Abner Cornwallis from rural residents regarding the careless and promiscuous shooting of firearms near farm houses and outbuildings, especially in the wooded area north of Beech Tree. Stray bullets striking barns and houses have been reported, and on the Jesse Scott farm a Poland China sow was killed by a bullet. It is assumed that boys with .22 rifles are responsible and Sheriff Cornwallis has promised an investigation. "Residents of Beech Tree should realize," Sheriff Cornwallis warned, "that the population in the section is increasing and extreme care should be exercised by hunters and others shooting in wooded areas." Sheriff Cornwallis also asked that the parents of children with rifles caution them about—

"Where's Roy?" a hoarse voice asked.

I looked up from the paper. A tall thin old man in a soiled and wrinkled seersucker suit stood in the archway. He had a red blotched complexion, thick black eyebrows and white hair showing over his ears behind a dirty and creased Panama hat.

"Who's Roy?" I asked him.

"The bartender."

"He's having a baby—I mean, his wife is."

He looked annoyed. "It's time for my sundowner."

"Sundowner?" I raised my eyebrows.

"My evening drink," he snapped. "Roy knows I always have my sundowner."

I said politely, "Perhaps the young lady will serve you."

"Lucy?" he scoffed. "Only Roy has the right touch."

"Maybe it's in the refrigerator," I suggested. "Why don't you look?"

"Yes," he said eagerly. "That's it. Roy wouldn't forget me." He moved briskly around the bar and lifted a stainless steel lid. "Ah!" he exclaimed triumphantly as he placed a glass on the bar. "Roy didn't forget."

The glass was tall, frosted, and contained at least a half pint of dark amber liquid. The old man carried it to a table, sat down, took a black cigar from a coat pocket, struck a match beneath the table. When the cigar was burning evenly, he settled back in the chair, blew smoke at the ceiling.

I was curious. "May I ask what you're drinking, sir?"

"Sundowner," he said. "Four parts bourbon, one part sweet vermouth, a generous dash of Angostura bitters. Stir gently until chilled."

He held out a thin veined hand. "I'm Abner Cornwallis." As he shook hands, he said, "Sit down, son."

I took a chair opposite him. "Cornwallis?" I said. "Sheriff Cornwallis?"

He nodded. "Yep. Been sheriff of Beech Tree County for 14 years."

I grinned at him. "Any relation to the general?"

He nodded. "Yep. Way back, though." He squinted at me thru the cigar smoke. "How'd you know I was the sheriff?"

"I just saw your name in the paper—about those kids being careless with rifles."

"Oh that," he sighed. "Most kids around here own rifles and they go out in the hills to shoot target, and maybe some rabbits and snakes." He chuckled. "Davy Crockett and Dan Boone stuff. No harm meant, but they forget how far a rifle bullet carries." He squinted at me. "Stranger in town, huh?"

"Yes. My name's Bennett."

"Lucy!" he bawled over his shoulder. "Service in the bar!"

HOWDY FOLKS! THERE IS NO POWER SHORTAGE IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS

HASN'T BEEN — ISN'T NOW — WON'T BE

Grand Tower Power Station Capacity Greater Than Southern Illinois Load Including Cairo

Grand Tower Power Station alone generates more electricity than Southern Illinois uses in any peak period.

Grand Tower Station Now Being Doubled In Capacity

Construction was started in 1955 of a new addition to the Grand Tower Station that will double the amount of electricity it can supply. Power is not short now and it won't be tomorrow.

Big Transmission Lines Connecting Southern Illinois With Other Power Stations Can Bring In 2½ Times More Capacity Than Grand Tower

There are 230,000 volt and 138,000 volt transmission lines connecting this company's system with its own and other Power Stations.

These big transmission lines can bring in 2½ times the present capacity of Grand Tower Station, and nearly 3 times the greatest amount of electricity ever used in Southern Illinois. No provision has been overlooked to assure an adequate dependable supply of electricity for Southern Illinois.
